Pie Baking and Frog Jumping Contest
The Bethel Area Health Center will be sponsoring two events on Mollykett Day, July 16.

A pie baking contest will take place at the Health Center booth. This event is open to everyone. So bring your best pie, any kind, to the booth at noon. A panel of three judges will be taste-testing the pies. Judging will be based on appearance, texture and taste. A first prize of $10 will go to the best pie. Please pre-register for this event by calling Vicki Rackliffe at 824-2234 before July 13. This is merely to indicate interest. A small entry fee is requested and payable at contest time.

The second event is a frog jumping contest to be held at 2 p. m. on the Green. A first prize of $3 will be given to the frog that goes the farthest in one jump. This contest is open to all ages and also will require a small entry fee payable at the time of the event.

Come join the festivities and help make this Mollykett Day fun!

Books Still Needed for Bethel Library Book Sale

The Bethel Library is still interested in acquiring books, paperback or hardcover, for its annual Mollykett Day book sale on July 16. Everyone has an assortment of reading material that is no longer needed and a quick search in attic or shed may turn up something someone else might like to read. Please help support the Library in this worthwhile cause and at

THIS WEEK AT THE MOSES MASON HOUSE

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are cordially invited to attend the annual picnic which will be held on this Thursday evening, July 7, at 6:30 on the grounds of the Moses Mason House. This will be followed by the monthly meeting which will feature the annual collectibles night. Following this a slide presentation will be made on "Maine's Historic Houses in Crisis: New Strategies for Survival", the subject of an exhibit currently on display in the meeting room of the Moses Mason House. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

Late last year State Senator Donald Twitchell of Norwam was asked to introduce legislation in the Senate exempting historical societies and museums from paying state sales tax on goods and services purchased for use by the particular organization. In his latest newsletter to constituents in District 5, Senator Twitchell announces that this legislation has become law and will take effect on Jan. 1, 1984. It is certainly good news for historical organizations throughout Maine since this state was one of two that still did not exempt museums and historical organizations from the sales tax. In hearings this spring before the State Taxation Committee members of historical organizations throughout Maine urged passage of this legislation to eliminate any confusion with organizations being tax-exempt as far as property and income taxes but not in regard to the sales tax. This legislation corrects this situation and puts the state squarely behind supporting these organizations that do so much in preserving Maine's heritage and provide a rich and varied experience to visitors to Maine. The Bethel Historical Society stands to save over $500 annually in state sales taxes that can after Jan. 1 go to urgently needed projects and programs. Historical organizations throughout Maine are grateful to the Maine Legislature and Gov. Brennan for passing this legislation so long overdue.

FROM THE bethel town office

Meeting in special session Thursday afternoon, June 30, at 5 p. m. in the Town Office Meeting Room, the Board of Selectmen conducted two public hearings. One was for the consideration of a liquor license renewal application from Claus and Jackie Wiese d/b/a The Norseman Inn and another for the consideration of a Victrola License application from Leslie and Andrew Aron d/b/a The Bulldog Diner. There were no comments from the public or the Selectmen on either of the applications and following the public hearing, the Board approved both requests.

The clear, warm weather has led many of us to pursue our housecleaning and gardening chores that the rains of last month forced us to postpone. One of the spin-offs of our tasks is the need to deposit trash and clippings at the Bethel Landfill on Route 2, opposite the Town Forest. The Landfill hours of operation are as follows: Monday and Thursday afternoons between 12 noon and 4 p. m.; and Saturday and Sunday between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. Landfill users are reminded to display a red, two-inch square permit sticker on the windshield or vent window. Landfill stickers may be obtained at the Bethel Town Office at no cost.

Efforts to reduce streetlighting costs and improve lighting efficiency will continue at the meeting of the Board of Selectmen, Monday, July 18, when a public hearing continued on Page Five

— Mrs. Colista Morgan, Corres. —

The day broke with a golden dawn. The thrushes put on a serenade. I couldn't see them to tell how many there were but our robins and a white throat joined and was at full tilt. I love this magnificent morning symphony. There is a strange exhilaration about it, a novel sense of discovery and I hesitated to leave. But there were things to do, as always. I made rhubarb jam, an apple pie and donuts for extras then it was time to start dinner.

At one o'clock I thought how pleasant it would be to boat the Sanborn River. Why do I choose a ride here so often? The first reason is because it is nearby. Just a short way on the pond and there's the river. The second reason is because I love to escape to the out-of-doors, to solitude, and the simple loveliness of the river and valley. So I write of its trees, flowers, birds and insects there. But mostly I suppose, I write of me and my reactions to these things. My idle thoughts that come unsought and my wonderings. I'm sure my writings are nothing of great significance, just my ramblings and what I saw and felt. It's a quiet, rich, unharmed way of life. I'd miss the bobolinks' songs from the field, the friendly robins, daisies and buttercups everywhere, and the hum of bees on a lazy afternoon—all of these precious sights, sounds, and smells, that go with a country day. So I wander, and write. For those who do not like it, can easily pass it by.

So again I boated the Sanborn. Some times I wish that it had deeper water and that I could go on and on up stream.

The cedar waxwings were there this time to greet me. I spied a redwing which hadn't seen me. I watched for he seemed to be coming back like a rubber in the sun. I discovered that he was bathing. I never knew they did that. How thorough it was! What fun he was having, until he saw me, then he flew. He looked startled, caught doing something he shouldn't.

Another adventure waited upstream. I heard a rustle in the grass at my right. I stopped to observe and made an exciting discovery. There was a path to the water's edge and limbs cut by beavers. I sat quietly unobserved for some time. I then saw the tall grass moving. Something was approaching. I froze, motionless, behind the maze of small bushes. My sharpened gaze saw nothing. Whatever was there was extremely wary. I remained motionless, almost without breathing, intent on the spot of the path and moving grass. Then I saw it happen! A small tree fell and was being dragged by a brown, fur clad animal—a beaver! In my many trips on the river this was my first sight of a beaver. It went from sight with its cutting which is done by anchoring the upper teeth and chiseling out wood with the lower teeth. I firmly believe it never saw me. This was only my second "seeing" of this animal in the wild in my life time. The first was many years ago on a boggy meadow when I nearly stepped on one while fishing in northern Maine.

There are so many things to observe and so many unanswered questions for a casual observer that I shall never learn them all. I poked along upstream then turned back toward the pond.

Troops of arrowheads were wading in the shallow water while numerous pickerel-weed disdainfully ignored them.

The hours had given me much for thought and I hope to again find again return to my Sanborn River.

The week end plus July 4th brought many activities and much fun. I am an American from word go and July 4 brought back many memories of childhood days, when the flag, families, and the Fourth were honored and I am thankful for my heritage and those things.

A special parade took place here on Sunday. Below my driveway I saw cars slow, stop, honk then move on. I couldn't see why until presently waddling up the road, and right in the middle, came a parade of six ducks. The leader, a snow white one, and the others all dark. Shortly they turned back and went from sight. Monday I looked out my window and there they were again. It was about 11 a.m. and they stayed for the day as ornaments on my lawn. Occasionally they moved from one place to another out of the sun and nestled in the cool grass. Smart! I guess they found it cooler than the men did in the hay field. One worked too hard and fast and suffered heat exhaustion. I found it hot, too, as I gathered beet greens for freezing. Better to be hot than unable to see. Fay Holt came home from Boston where she had eye surgery. There is little she can see so little she can do. We all hope for improvement.

To us on our lawn came the sweet music of Max Pulsifer's cello, that mechanized Pied Piper of Hamelin. It was luring to the young and the young-at-heart. Truly good entertainment.

Several in town enjoyed fireworks and the sparkle and sounds that go with them.

Frank Curtis and his wife, Dot, joined his twin brother, Fred and wife, Rena, for a cook out.

Doris Hayes had 13 guests over the week end and on Monday they joined other relatives and friends for a party of 30 at the cottage of Ardell and Betty Hayes on North Pond, Norway. Many of them are musical so they had a concert there, the hills tingled with music in the evening. Guests were from New Hampshire, Connecticut and Indiana.

Mildred Bowman, Hebron, and her brother, Donald, called one day to see Dot Curtis.

We visited Carroll Nottage at Stephens Memorial Hospital a couple of times this week. Fred and Frank Curtis also visited.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Brennan, Seekonk, Mass., are at their cottage for a while.

All of us welcome and wish the best to Mr. and Mrs. John Betts on their retirement here.

Mrs. David Foster and Mrs. Richard Stearns and Miss Linda Stearns of Rumford Corner attended the wedding of Mrs. Foster's grandson, David Walter Hamlin, to Patricia Coash, Saturday morning at Keoka Lake, South Waterford, at the camp of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hamlin. The bride was wearing a long wedding gown of satin with an off-shoulder sleeve with a ruffled neckline. She wore a halo of babies' breath on her head and carried a beautiful white fan with white carnations on it. They were married before an arch with a white wedding bell hanging from it. The young couple received many nice gifts, the reception was held afterward on the grounds of the camp. Luckily the opening of the gifts and the luncheon was over before a heavy thundershower came.

Mrs. Myra Foster was an overnight guest of her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maxwell, in West Lebanon, N. Y., while the others were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Felter. On the way to Pittsfield, we were held up on the turnpike between Portland and Kittery by an accident. A camper was overturned on the highway, so we didn't get into Pittsfield until nearly eight o'clock but we got there in time for the dinner and dance.

Gilead

— Louise Loring, Corres. —

There are many summer visitors enjoying the hospitality of our hedgerows this summer. A border of sumac bushes marks the boundary line between our home and our neighbors—and hidden carefully amongst its densely populated emerald leaves, lies the bulky nest of the cedar wax wing.

Earlier this summer I had noted Mrs. C. Waxwing resting opposite the porch, with a long piece of twine in her beak, but hadn't supposed she would pick her summer's vacation site so near to our buildings. One day last week, my grandson spotted her nest, and she was carefully and quietly sitting upon it. When she flew away, to partake of some merry little breezes, two spotted eggs were noted in the nest-site. It will be interesting to determine, if the prospective little family will do well here. In my husband's garage two nests of barn swallows have been constructed, as they twine and dip about—taking turns upon the nest, perched high atop the rafters. The roses are in full bloom now, and during the day, we have spotted several lively little ladybugs sojourning amongst the grasses. The cat bird, with his little round, red spot on tiny rump—takes endless showers at the bird bath. One evening at dusk—a streak of white, surrounded by black, poked his head out from beneath the lilac bushes, and ran for cover beneath our car. Lil Stinker, the skunk, prowls about in the cool of the evening, looking for stray lunch-eons, but the perfume he wears, to repel all other marauders, is needless to say, less desirable, than he himself. A few lightning bugs, play merrily outside our porch in the evening, as the planet Venus, silently stares down upon us. We have heard the call of the oven bird, or the evening thrush, far into the deep forest, as its evening vespers are being repeated over and over, for its mate's enjoyment.

The days have been extremely warm, and uncomfortable but in the evening, as the cool breezes play around us, and the sun has sunk into the west, beneath its scarlet bedsheets, and when evening draws her cape of privacy about us, it is then that we can enjoy the living echoes of our

THUNDER/LIGHTNING STORMS PRESENT PROBLEMS IN SUMMER MONTHS

The months of July, August, and part of September are thunderstorm prone and because of this situation safety precautions should be known and taken against fatal damage by lightning.

Richard Dutremble, Director, Maine Bureau of Civil Emergency Preparedness (MECEP) says that thunderstorms can be expected to occur 10 to 20 days each summer in most of Maine and up to 30 days in extreme Northern and Northeastern Maine during the warm summer months.

Dutremble said that throughout the state people playing their local golf course are more susceptible to lightning injury due to open spaces, metal golf carts, clubs and poles. He added that damage to property in Maine from thunderstorms is frequently in excess of $100,000 per year.

Dutremble urged residents, visitors to the Pine Tree State and particularly those involved in outdoor activities to familiarize themselves with the following safety rules provided by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration:

1. Stay indoors, and don't venture outside, unless absolutely necessary.
2. Stay away from open doors, windows, fireplaces, radiators, stoves, metal pipes, sinks, and plug-in electrical appliances.
3. Don't use plug-in electrical equipment like hair dryers, electric tooth brushes, or electric razors during the storm.
4. Don't use the telephone during the storm—lightning may strike lines outside.
5. Don't take laundry off the clothes lines.
6. Don't work on fences, telephone or power lines, pipelines, or structural steel fabrication.
7. Don't use metal objects like fishing rods and golf clubs. Golfers wearing cleated shoes are particularly good lightning rods.
8. Don't handle flammable materials in open containers.
9. Stop tractor work, especially when the tractor is pulling metal equipment, and dismount. Tractors and other implements in metallic contact with the ground are often struck by lightning.
10. Get out of the water and off small boats.
11. Stay in your automobile if you are traveling. Automobiles offer excellent lightning protection.
12. Seek shelter in buildings. If no buildings are available your best protection is a cave, ditch, canyon, or under head-high clumps or trees in open forest glades.
13. When there is no shelter, avoid the highest object in the area. If only isolated trees are nearby, your best protection is to crouch in the open, keeping twice as far away from isolated trees as the trees are high.
14. Avoid hill tops, open spaces, wire fences, metal clothes lines, exposed sheds, and any electrically conductive elevated objects.
15. In the event you feel the electrical charge — if your hair stands on end or your skin tingles — lightning may be about to strike you. Drop to the ground immediately.

Walking With Jesus Christ

Can you just imagine! "That in ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of his grace in his kindness toward us in Christ Jesus." Eph. 2:7.

Try as we may we simply cannot comprehend the magnitude of God's glorious plan for us. It's so exciting—"the love of Christ that passeth all understanding."

Meditating upon these words—"it's as if new broad horizons of unspeakable joy fills our hearts—oh, the depths of the riches both of wisdom and knowledge of God! How unsearchable are his judgments and his ways, past finding out." Ro. 11:33.

No one fully understands of the riches that the child of God has in store—"for who hath known the mind of the Lord? For of him and through him, and to him, are all things; to whom be glory forever." Amen.

When we consider ourselves—even as Job did—"What is man, that thou shouldst magnify him, and thou shouldst set thine heart upon him?" "Yet man is born unto trouble, as the sparks fly upward—I would seek unto God, and unto God would I commit my cause, who doeth great things and unsearchable, marvelous things without number." Yes, committing ourselves unto

Lightning First Aid
Persons struck by lightning receive a severe electrical shock and may be burned, but they carry no electrical charge and can be handled safely. A person "killed" by lightning can often be revived by prompt mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, cardiac massage, and prolonged artificial respiration. In a group struck by lightning, the apparently dead should be treated first; those who show vital signs will probably recover spontaneously, although burns and other injuries may require treatment.

to share the treasures that God has in store for his children—"Having predestined us into the adoption of sons, by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will—that in the fullness of time he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in heaven, and which are in earth, even in him—that we should be to the praise of his glory, who first trusted in Christ."

Yes, trusting in Christ—accepting him as your own personal Lord and Savior—asking forgiveness of your sins — "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God."—that—the eyes of your understanding being enlightened; that ye may know what is the hope of his calling, and what the riches of the glory of his inheritance in the saints, and what is the exceeding greatness of his power toward us who believe—" Eph. 1:18.

For by grace (unmerited favor) are ye saved thru faith; and not that of yourselves, it is the gift of God, not of works, lest any man should boast—for we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them." Eph. 2:8, 9, 10.

MAINE DEER SEASONS SET —BUCKS ONLY IN TWO AREAS

Maine's 1983 deer hunting seasons will include two areas where only buck deer may be taken, according to Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Glenn H. Manuel.

Following a round of public hearings this spring, Manuel and his advisory council have adopted a proposal aimed at protecting female deer in eastern and western portions of the state's southern deer hunting zone.

The action marks the first time that Maine has imposed a bucks-only rule.

Manuel said protecting the female deer is necessary because habitat changes, predation and hunting pressure have depleted the herd in the two areas.

Under provisions of the new rules, hunters will be permitted to shoot only male deer with antlers, not less than three inches in length. Both bucks-only districts are in the southern zone, which is that portion of Maine south of the Canadian Pacific Railroad tracks.

They are bounded as follows:
Eastern District: East of the Penobscot River from the Atlantic Ocean north to Brewer, and south of Route #9 from Brewer to the Maine-New Brunswick boundary formed by the St. Croix River.

Western District: West of the Kennebec River from the Atlantic Ocean to Merry Meeting Bay, following the Androscoggin River to Livermore, Route #4 to Farmington, Route #27 to New Vineyard, Route #24 to North Anson, Route #21-A to Solon, Route 201 to Jackman, and the Canadian Pacific Railroad mainline track west to the Maine-Quebec boundary.

The season dates are as follows:
Northern Zone: Firearms — all hunters—Oct. 31 to Nov. 26; Maine residents—Saturday, Oct. 28; Special archery season—Oct. 1 to Oct. 28.

Southern Zone (including Western and Eastern districts): Firearms—all hunters—Nov. 7 to Nov. 26; Maine residents — Saturday, Nov. 5; Special archery season—Oct. 1 to Nov. 4.

Manuel said that although the bucks-only rule was set for the 1983 hunting season, it will take several years of deer protection before its effect can be evaluated. He said his authority to restrict the hunting of doe deer was granted by the legislature for a three year period.

The recommendations for the bucks-only districts were made following three years of study by department biologists and the Maine Deer Task Force, a statewide committee of outdoorsmen established by the Sportsman's Alliance of Maine. During recent months, public hearings were held at 10 communities in the affected counties to discuss the proposal.

spread" conference center in Racine, Wis. The meeting dealt with national security. There was one representative present from each of the 50 states at the invitation meeting. They gathered to hear experts in the fields of military policy, arms control and defense spending, to analyze public priorities regarding U. S. commitments abroad and to design strategies for citizen education programs in the states.

The conference is one activity of the League's ongoing national study of national security issues. The goal of the conference, stated Dorothy K. Powers, National Security Chair, was to prepare League members throughout the United States to conduct public education programs about U. S. national security issues.

Each participant brought to the conference, from all the geographical areas they represent, a cross-section of American impressions on U. S. national security interests based on informal sampling of public opinions on the issues. "The interviews I had," says Ms. Johnson, "were extremely valuable in illuminating perceptions. People felt a need for clear, objective presentation of the issues involved in this topic and saw a real role for the League to play in this area. They also saw us helping to make citizens more in-

MEDICAL VIDEO CAMERA IS ANONYMOUS DONATION TO STEPHENS MEM. HOSPITAL

The anonymous donation of a $12,000 Medical Video Camera will make it possible for persons presenting themselves at Stephens Memorial Hospital with a knee injury to have their injury assessed and treated more expeditiously than was previously possible.

The six inch, six ounce camera is connected to a special needle which is inserted into the joint under sterile conditions in the operating room. The camera projects a picture of the internal parts of the joint onto a television screen, allowing the physician to study the area, diagnose the problem and make necessary repairs — a procedure referred to as Arthroscopy.

Because the procedure requires an incision just large enough to permit insertion of the needle, it is less painful, requires less hospitalization, less physical therapy and less lost work time than would be required to surgically explore the knee.

Although Arthroscopy has been available at Stephens Memorial Hospital for several years, the addition of the video camera and television permits visualization for the entire operating team enabling them to better assist the surgeon, thus decreasing the length of the procedure for the patient.

Patients with lung, stomach and colon problems will also benefit from this new equipment and technology as use is expanded into these areas.

Many patients will save valuable time, expense and loss of income as a result of this very generous donation to Stephens Memorial Hospital.

On July 4, Mr. and Mrs. Burton Newton attended a LaValley family gathering, the first reunion of Louise and her sisters. They joined Mr. and Mrs. Chapman (Lillian), children and grandchildren, Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Benson (Leona) and two children from Alabama at Lillian's cottage, Concord Pond. A cook out was enjoyed. A fourth sister, Lena Himes of Missouri was unable to attend.

MAJOR AGRICULTURAL MEASURES SIGNED INTO LAW BY GOV. BRENNAN

A number of recently enacted agricultural bills, including legislation creating a statewide "Milk Pool," were signed into law recently by Governor Joseph E. Brennan. Along with his approval of several other farm-related measures, the signings officially capped off what some observers feel has been a banner year for agricultural legislation.

"Among the bills passed this session are some of the most important pieces of agricultural legislation in recent history," says Agriculture Commissioner Stewart N. Smith. "The measures approved will go far toward assuring the future of farming in Maine and strengthening rural lifestyles and values that have always been a vital part of this state's heritage. I believe that through their enactment of the major agricultural bills proposed by the Brennan Administration, the members of the 111th Legislature have shown an outstanding commitment to Maine agriculture."

The signing of the Milk Pool Bill was attended by a dozen dairy producers representing Farmers for Fair Milk Pricing, a group that lobbied throughout the recent session in support of the measure. The Milk Pool plan, one of the most controversial issues considered by the 111th Legislature, is designed to reduce longstanding inequities in milk prices paid to dairy farmers selling to the state-regulated Maine market and those selling to the federally regulated Boston market. Under that plan, a portion of the $1.38 per hundredweight price advantage currently enjoyed by Maine market dairy farmers will be paid into a statewide pool and redistributed among all of the state's 1,050 dairy farmers. The level of payments will be phased in over the next two years and a special break will be given to Maine market producers in Aroostook and Washington Counties to reflect their higher production costs.

Later, the Governor also signed legislation establishing a new State Soil and Water Conservation Fund. The measure provides $100,000 a year to be distributed to Maine farmers by local Soil and Water Conservation Districts as challenge grants for innovative conservation projects. Citing the unusual level of by-partisan support for the bill, Governor Brennan commented that it showed the state's strong commitment to conservation and said the new state funding is particularly significant in light of recent and proposed cut-backs in federal funding of local soil and water conservation efforts.

Another bill signed by the Governor, which is expected to benefit all major commodity groups in the agricultural sector, establishes a comprehensive marketing program for agricultural products produced in the state. As part of the new program, the state Department of Agriculture, Food and Rural Resources will institute quality standards for Maine's agricultural fairs, traditional events that have shown a considerable revival in recent years;

—establishes a state Animal Welfare Board composed of representatives of various groups concerned about the care and prevention of cruelty to pet and farm animals.

Other notable agricultural laws recently approved includes legislation that:

—establishes a system for setting minimum daily prices paid to farmers for potatoes, with built-in price incentives for higher quality;

—creates within the Finance Authority of Maine, a Division of Natural Resource Financing and Marketing which will provide guarantees for agricultural loans to encourage farm financing by local banks and establish special financing programs for beginning farmers;

—requires the development of quality standards for Maine's agricultural fairs, traditional events that have shown a considerable revival in recent years;

—establishes a state Animal Welfare Board composed of representatives of various groups concerned about the care and prevention of cruelty to pet and farm animals.

A variety of market research and market information efforts for the benefit of both the producers and buyers of Maine agricultural products. The measure also provides matching state funds for product promotion and creates a new quality assurance program designed to maintain or improve the quality and image of Maine's potatoes, apples and other major agricultural products. With respect to potatoes, the efforts of the two quality assurance inspectors called for in the marketing program will be enhanced further by the Legislature's approval of three additional potato quality inspector positions within the Department of Agriculture. The five new quality inspectors will allow the Department to enforce Maine's branding law, which makes it illegal to sell produce that does not meet the appropriate quality standards.

Yet another measure signed implements key portions of the potato industry's own Potato Long-Range Plan. Much of that plan is of concern with ensuring the production of high quality seed potatoes, the basis of many of the steps considered necessary to improve the economic health of the state's potato industry. In a separate measure recently enacted by the 111th Legislature, a crucial grant of $200,000 was provided to the Seed Potato Board to take care of a budget shortfall at the State's Porter Seed Farm in Marsden. Under the new Long-Range Plan legislation, the Porter Farm will become the major supplier of certified seed for Maine's potato farmers.

Another recently enacted bill, establishes the nation's first returnable pesticide container program. The measure mandates a deposit and return system for "limited use" pesticides and requires farmers and other pesticide users to triple-rinse pesticide containers before returning them to dealers. The new system is designed to prevent improper disposal of potentially dangerous, un-rinsed pesticide containers, which have often previously ended up in town landfills or illegal dumpsites.

Other notable agricultural laws recently approved includes legislation that:

—establishes a system for setting minimum daily prices paid to farmers for potatoes, with built-in price incentives for higher quality;

Safety Tip of the Week—Thunder and lightning storms are common with the hot/humid weather we've been having. Remember water conducts electricity. Do not swim in a lightning storm. Do not sail with the aluminum mast likely to attract a lightning bolt. If an electrical wire is down on your car, do not get out of your car. The rubber tires are insulators and will protect you. As soon as contact is made between a person and the wet ground, the current will travel through that person.

OXFORD HILLS C. OF C. PLANS BEAN HOLE BEAN FESTIVAL

The Oxford Hills Chamber of Commerce is making plans for the 30th Oxford Hills Bean Hole Bean Festival, according to Al LeClerc, president of the local Chamber. The festival, "Always the last Saturday in July," will be held on July 30 this year at the Oxford Fairgrounds, south of Norway on Route 26 (located behind the Oxford Plaza). Annually over 3000 people attend this daylong family festival which features the famous "beanhole beans", which are cooked the real old-time way, baked underground in cast iron kettles. In addition to the beans, numerous other attractions have been scheduled for the festival.

Linda Caradonna, the Chamber's Executive Director, says "This year we have lined up some really different and special attractions which will appeal to all ages." Included among these will be the Crafts Fair which will run all day and features the work of many craftspeople. The 5th Annual Woody Allen Road Race will begin and end at the Fairgrounds as part of the festivities and there will be a performance by the YMCA gymnastics team. Other attractions include Max Pulsifer and his Maine Nickelodeon and a square dance exhibition by the Swingin' Bears.

Highlighting the day's events will be a parade of antique cars scheduled for 10:30 a. m., a 12-team One Pitch Softball Tournament, beginning at 8:30 a. m. and several appearances by the Kennebec Mariners Fire and Drum Corps.

Baked Beans are as "Maine" as lobster, blueberries or potatoes. The Annual Bean Festival is an event that should not be missed by area residents or tourists visiting here. Bean dinners will be served from noon until the beans are gone. Bulk beans will also be available for sale. Parking and admission are free, and the day promises a fun-filled and inexpensive family outing. Don't miss it.

Sent in by Viva Whitman: July 4 already. How is everyone standing the heat? So hot and humid most of the time lately, it's enough to drive everyone inside, especially if they can't stand much heat. Russell says he'd rather get up early and work, rest through the middle of the day, and then work some more in the evening when the sun isn't so hot.

Monday afternoon, Russell and Peggy went to Bear River Grange Hall to do some repair work on windows and screens. Earl Hutchinson joined them and they did what they could, but didn't finish all that needed doing. Tuesday saw Russell and Peggy there again, most all day to help over-see the "Outward Bound" group who are painting the Grange Hall for their summer project. "Outward Bound" gives these boys and girls from city life an opportunity to experience country life, and do many things while here. Each group is here for about two weeks, camping out nights, doing special projects while here, learning to care for their own food, clothing, dishes and everything like that. Some of them really enjoy it and others can't wait to get back home. Painting the Grange Hall is their special project for this summer. This group started it, the next group coming in July will continue, and the next group after that will hopefully finish it. Peggy and Russell said they really got a lot done that day, having never painted before. Some were better at it than others, but most of them pitched in with gusto and did a good job. It will be a pleasure to see the Hall looking bright and shining with a new paint job.

Tuesday was my day for going to Fryeburg to the doctor's, so Darnita and daughter took me over. Had to wait a while as usual and then we headed for home by way of Norway, where we stopped for a late lunch.

Peggy had called Denmark, so knew strawberries were ripe. She and Russell headed off early Wednesday morning to get some. Emma Page went with them and all came back tired, but with a lot of lovely berries. I hulled berries and made jam; also put up many packages for the freezer, with Russell's help. Of course, we had to save out a large bowl of them to eat as they were. Boy, were they good!

Thursday morning was a quiet one, as Russell and Peggy were to go to the Grange Hall again in the afternoon to help with moving grass. Peggy also had a window that still needed fixing, so after lunch they were off again. Earl Hutchinson, Laura Hutchins and Rufus Rich met them there to help with the project. Would like to have helped too, but can't travel good enough to help much. I stayed home to see that supper would be ready for them on their return. From all reports I guess things at the Grange Hall are looking better. Got to get things spruced up so we can have our Flea Market the last of August. Anyone interested in having space or a table should contact Russell Yates, Linona Blake or Laura Hutchins. It's not too early to be thinking about it.

Safety Tips of the Week

— Heat Wave —
If you have a respiratory problem or any other problem with the heat stay inside if possible. Don't overdo. Elderly persons, take care and don't get overheated, stay inside when the sun is high and it's real warm. Take a shower and just relax. Be sure to use a sun screening lotion if sun bathing.

Friday was odd job day. Russell fried potatoes, turned hay and other odd jobs that were waiting to be done. I went to town for groceries and to do one or two errands. Laura stopped by for a few minutes on her way to New Hampshire to visit over night with Joan King. She came by for a few minutes on her return Saturday morning. Was glad she did so we knew she made it up and back O.K. with all the crazy traffic on the road.

Russell did his good scout deed saying she had a woodchuck eating up her garden, and wondered what to do. Russell said, "Put a gasoline soaked rag down his hole, then cover it up and it will gas him." Helen told us she thought the woodchuck had a hole down in the blackberry bushes and she had gotten scratched trying to find it, so Russell went down to help. They found the hole, so while Russell came back home to get an old rag and gasoline, Helen cut some of the bushes so they could get to the woodchuck hole better. Between the two of them, they got to the hole, stuffed a gasoline soaked jacket into it and covered it up. Helen reported Sunday that she hadn't seen Mr. Woodchuck again, so we hope he is sleeping the sound sleep of eternity. It is hard enough work to raise a garden without woodchucks or other animals eating them up.

Didn't do much Sunday, as it was too hot and humid. Tried to sew a little and the cloth stuck to me, so I quit. Was too hot for Russell to do much so we stayed inside and enjoyed the coolness of the fan. They say more sticky weather, so hope some of you enjoy it better than we do. Maybe it's a sign we're getting older, who knows?

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all my friends and relatives for the lovely cards and visits during my recent stay at Stephens Memorial Hospital. Thanks to the American Legion Auxiliary for the lovely fruit basket. A special thanks to the nursing staff and Dr. Swanbeck for their care. It meant a lot to know that others care. May God bless you all.

Sincerely,
Laura Inman

— Evelyn B. Vatcher, Corres. —

I ordered some good hay weather for the farmers, and I guess they like it. No complaints. I was also good for the berry patches except for ours and the first got them, May 17, so we picked elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Abbott have returned from their trip to Prince Edward Island. Everything was beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher took Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Lawrence to dinner July 1 in honor of their 44th anniversary. They went to Berlin, N. H., and it was hot up there also.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Vatcher and three children of Lynn, Mass., came Thursday evening to spend the long week end with his mother, Rhoda Vatcher.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lyons spent the long week end with her parents at their cottage at Peaks Island.

The Community Club supper on July 2 was a great success and we were happy. As the weather got hotter we were afraid that everyone would go to the beaches and all our work would be in vain, but as they thought of the luscious strawberry shortcakes, topped with whipped cream, they came by twos and fours and we had a hall full of people. We were so sorry that we had to refuse the last four persons who came but we were all pleased out except two biscuits. The kitchen help didn't have shortcake but we will make it up next time. A Mr. and Mrs. Spurr who came from Connecticut said that the home baked beans were worth the trip. Mrs. Norma Ross was present and she liked the spot that we picked for the picture she gave to the club. We are hoping to hang the new drapes before our next supper.

Mr. and Mrs. "Rood" Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher joined Agnes Coffin and her family at the home of Sharon and Jennie Felt July 3 for a cook out and baked beans, salads and an anniversary cake decorated in Senator R. Donald Twitchell (D-Norway) has announced that legislation which he sponsored providing a Maine sales tax exemption for historical societies has been passed into law.

The legislation, which has been introduced in three previous sessions only to be defeated, was passed by the 111th Legislature in its final days. The measure will take effect on Jan. 1, 1984.

"I am pleased," said Senator Twitchell, "that the members of the 111th Legislature enacted this measure. This will help historical societies survive. They are an important cultural entity and help us to remember our past, and reflect upon its affect on our future."

Mr. and Mrs. William Field, Shawn and Jeff, of Bath, and Jerry Greenwell of Topsham were week end guests of Miss Jeri Brooks.

AUBURN MAN DROWNS AT ANDOVER WEST SURPLUS

A 31 year old Auburn man drowned while exploring Frye Brook in Andover West Surplus, an unorganized township near Andover, Sunday afternoon. Officials identified the victim as Allen Devost, who lived and worked at the YMOA on Turner Street in Auburn.

Devost was a member of a group of Lewiston-Auburn residents who were staying at an abandoned camp on Frye Brook. He reportedly fell into a turbulent pool of water at the base of a steep gorge.

According to Game Warden David Berry, Devost and two companions, Paul Gasson of Park Street, Lewiston, and John Mason of Main Street, Lewiston, had decided to investigate the brook above the camp at about 1 p. m. Devost, who had gone ahead to explore the area, had not been heard from for some time when his companions decided to go looking for him, officials said.

As they climbed up the steep rugged terrain, they spotted Devost's arm hanging onto a ledge. By the time they could get to the ledge, Devost's friends could not find a trace of him. The ledge was located at a flume with two 25-foot waterfalls that empty into a 22-foot-deep pool.

Officials said one of the friends dove in to see if they could rescue him but Devost could not be found. The second friend went to the car and drove into Andover to report the incident.

Responding was the Andover Fire Department and Game Warden Berry. Once at the scene, Game Warden Berry went into the water and was unsuccessful in his attempt to recover the body. By this time members of the Rural Emergency Medical Service (REMS) arrived and Bill Gates of REMS went down 22 feet into the

CHECK CREDENTIALS OF PERSON CLAIMING TO REPRESENT IRS

Persons posing as employees of the Internal Revenue Service occasionally attempt to harass taxpayers, or collect money for what the impostor claims are unpaid taxes, according to W. E. Dosedilo, District Director of the IRS in Maine.

Taxpayers should request to see the credentials of any individual claiming to represent the IRS. Every IRS employee who makes contact with the public is required to carry distinctive identification and must show this when conducting official business.

Generally, taxpayers who owe money to the IRS will receive written notification before being contacted in person.

Taxpayers who are contacted by telephone with no previous contact by mail should phone the IRS at 1-800-424-1040 to check the validity of the phone call. This procedure should also apply to those taxpayers who doubt the legality of credentials offered to them at the time of contact.

Rescuers stood in the water as they spent an hour trying to revive Devost as he lay on a rock near the edge of one of the waterfalls. FROM THE Maine State Senate

R. Donald Twitchell
State Senate District 5

It took the full complement of legislative days, but with little fanfare, and with the final decisions on appropriations and taxation completed, the Senate and House concluded their business on Friday, June 24. This legislature finished up by adopting a part two budget, which attempts to merge fiscal responsibility with social responsibility. I would like to first discuss the reasons for Maine's current fiscal crunch, and then go into details on what is in the budget.

Ten point two million dollars of the part two budget comprises money needed to replace a loss of federal funds. The President's "New Federalism" is hurting virtually every state in the nation. The effects of reduced levels of federal funding are being felt throughout the country. Eighteen states have deferred some expenditures until the next fiscal year; 21 states have placed a hiring freeze on state jobs; 44 states anticipate balances of below 5% at the end of the 1983 fiscal year. Four states anticipate budget deficits of over 1.3 billion dollars in 1984. Maine is no exception.

An additional problem for states has been the fall in tax revenues from corporate tax collections. The 1977 corporate share of Maine's general revenue monies has been cut in half, while the burden has shifted to the individual income tax payer. In 1977, corporate taxes accounted for approximately 32% of all state revenues; in 1982 corporate taxes accounted for 14%. The 111th Legislature acted to change this. A major corporate tax reform package was instituted which will place a "unitary" tax on the state's largest corporations and tax their nationwide income, in addition to the income from activities within Maine. This should also begin to reduce property taxes.

Both parties agreed to revoke the tax exemption on cigarettes, which will generate monies to fund parts of the part II budget.

Given the tax increases that passed, I would like to discuss what the revenues will be used to accomplish. As mentioned previously, a large portion will be used to make up for federal cut backs (over ten million dollars). This will protect many state level jobs and programs which provide social service assistance to Maine residents. Another emphasis is being placed on economic development and assistance to businesses already operating in Maine. Funds will be provided for the marketing of Maine's agricultural products, funds to develop a quality assurance program for potatoes, and a forest resources assessment and marketing program. In addition, monies will be spent to promote tourism, establish a business development agency, and to provide additional funds for

VETERANS HOME DEDICATED AT AUGUSTA SUNDAY

Mrs. Hilda Donahue, State President of the World War I Barracks Auxiliary, and Miss Jeri Brooks, Department President of the American Legion Auxiliary, were the Bethel dignitaries to attend the July 3 dedication of the Maine Veterans Home in Augusta Sunday afternoon.

This 120 bed facility is the result of the efforts of the State Veterans Coordinating Committee. In 1977 the referendum vote of the people of Maine approved a home for the veterans. It's a beautiful place. The unoccupied rooms visited were colorful and well equipped. To date there are 60 residents. A wheel chair patient said the food is good and the employees very helpful and courteous.

The dedication speaker was Gov. Joseph Brennan. Also speaking were U. S. Senator George Mitchell and Congressman John McKernan, Jr.

Alanson and Fannie Cummings made the trip taking Hilda Donahue, and Jackson-Silver Post Commander Charles Mason and Mrs. Ruth Mason.

There was a buffet reception in the Orange Wing. Approximately 300 attended.

the state housing program which offers low interest loans for first time home buyers.

Another important piece of the Part II budget is the Workers' Compensation Reform bill which is designed to reduce the long term costs of workers' compensation to Maine businesses. I am sure that you are aware that the budget also includes funds to establish the Hospital Cost Containment Board.

The approved budget includes extra monies for home-based care and five million dollars for local property tax relief. The final budget is more than $18,000,000 lower than the original draft which totaled $42,000,000. The members of the Appropriations and Taxation Committees worked long hours to pare down the original budget request, to find funding for the programs, and to design a budget which provides equitable service levels and maintaining the balanced budget required by the Constitution.

In coming weeks, I will attempt to detail all of the laws that passed during the 111th Legislative session, and to outline the ways which the new legislation will affect you. You will be able to reach me at 289-3386, or at home at 743-2419, during the session recess. I will still be serving as your Senator even though we are not in session, and I would encourage you to continue to let me know when I may be of assistance.
